Let's be clear about attendance

Your child must be receiving full time education from 5 years old to 16 years old, it is the law. Repeated absences from school can result in a fine or an Education Order from the courts.

Children who regularly miss school fall behind their learning, including our youngest children who will be learning a new letter sound everyday; absence will severely impact on their progress with learning to read.

Children who are ill should stay at home, this includes high temperature, vomiting, diarrhea and childhood illness eg. chicken pox. As a parent you have a responsibility to inform the school.

Children who have a headache, toothache or general aches and pains should be given pain relief and sent to school, ensure that you inform the teacher so that your child can be monitored at school; we will call should your child feels unwell and needs to be collected.

If your child has been unwell and has been prescribed antibiotics or other medication, they must return to school as soon as they are well enough. Do not keep them at home because they are on medication.

Birthdays are not a reason to stay off school. Children enjoy sharing their birthday with their classmates.

If you are unsure if you should send your child to school, call the office for advice.

We monitor all the children's attendance everyday.
