Story Time You've learned a bit about spies now. Put your imagination to the test and write a story where you are a spy on a mission. Write in the first person, think about where you are headed and why, and use as much description as possible to make the mission come to life!	Code Breakers Can you crack the maths codes to show your super spy skills? See the attached resources.	Water Resistance Spies travel through water just as much as they travel through the air. Using the attached resources, carry out the experiments on water resistance and use the sheet to design your ultimate spy boat (or submarine)!

Think about the story you have written, design and make a gadget to help your spy on it. Plan it out, think about what it is going to do and how. Then work out how to disguise it as an everyday object! Good luck!	Virtual Olympics Check your school Facebook page or website and find details of the Whinless Down Academy Virtual Olympics.
